There are a number of sanctions (penalties) that can be imposed on people who breach the code of conduct including fines, suspension, expulsion or other exclusions, and withholding results.

You should appreciate that serious offences such as assault, theft, willful damage and unlawful activities are highly likely to attract a suspension or even expulsion.

For a serious offence, suspension may be applied immediately, obviously impacting on your ability to continue or complete your studies.

For minor breaches of the code of conduct you will receive a warning asking you to rectify your behaviour. This may be a verbal reminder of the expected behaviour or an official written warning. Sanctions may be applied, including suspension, for consistent minor breaches of the code of conduct.

You should be aware that external authorities, such as the police, may be involved, in addition to any action taken under the “managing misconduct” below, where a student’s conduct breaks the law.

Managing Misconduct Process

If a student or group of students are identified as breaching the code above, then they may be liable one of the actions below. The level of severity of the misconduct will identify which is to be chosen:

- Request to stop the behaviour with an explanation as to why it is inappropriate
- Order to stop with the threat of removal from the class, the group activity, or in extreme case immediate removal from the campus
- Immediate removal from class
- Call to the police for illegal activities

The immediate decision will be made by the Trainer/Assessor or other staff member. Where there is a threat of danger to the individual then help should be enlisted.

As soon as the situation allows, the person carrying out the action will report the action verbally to the Training Manager (or in their absence the CEO). The Training manager may escalate the issue as appropriate. Following verbal reporting, a full written report must be made and placed on the student file. Where appropriate, statements from interested parties and or observers should be collected.

The student must be notified in writing within 3 working days of the incident, why the sanction has been applied (and for how long) and also their right to appeal the decision following the Complaints and Appeals policy.

Where students are convicted of an offence in a court of law, the college reserves the right to cancel the student's enrolment with no refunds being available.
